CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Class of 1960, being of sound mind—that is, fairly sound mind—do hereby bequeath the following:

Helen Angers leaves everything but Dick.

David Anthony wills a year's supply of "Charles de Gaulle for President" buttons to Mr. Vaughn.

Brenda Barnes leaves to be as busy as a bee.

James Belkus leaves his loose-leaf reinforcements to Bobo Olson.

Helen Bergstrom bequeaths her physical fitness to Marcia Ingraham.

Carol Bishop leaves her absences to Sherry Goddard.

Guy Butler leaves with his "hot rod" in a cloud of dust.

James Bye wills his clothes to Frankie Colburn.

Rod Chadwick bequeaths his fondness for girls to George Wood.

Fred Chartier leaves without regret.

Carol Chew wills her Wednesday night religion classes to Cindy Chew.

Roland Clark leaves his broken transmission to Norm Marshall.

Donna Coffin leaves to go to a school of higher learning where she hopes to learn to open her locker.

Janet Cotton bequeaths her sneezes to a hayfever sufferer's collection.

Carol Cronis leaves for Hollywood to make her debut.

Peter Cross leaves his sneakers to be bronze plated and put on display as a lasting memorial to him.

Nancy Desmarais wills her hair to Mr. Wight.

Peter Dineen bequeaths his football uniform to Frank Smith.

George Dow wills his bass clarinet to the Salvation Army.

Randy Dodge leaves his goatee to Nick Kondon.

Gail Eckhardt wills her gum factory to Freddy Hall.

Sue Elwell wills her frequent Danvers trips to anyone who can use them.

Wendy Fales leaves her red hair to Barbie Griggs.

Stephen Freedman wills his parking permit to some junior who wants to bring his parents' car to school.

Sally French leaves. Whatever will Miss Kennedy do?

John Galloway wills his driving skills to Robin Wade.

Nancy Genest wills her smile to Janet Braley.

Lloyd Getchell leaves his rides through the wilds of Middleton on his ringsize pony to Frank Quimby.

Linda Gilliland bequeaths her Problems notes to some helpless junior.

Pam Green leaves all the fun in the locker room to Cathy Riley.

Kenny Hackett bequeaths a year's subscription to Mad Magazine to Mr. Zollo.

Betty Hausman wills her college board exams to Mr. Burton.

Bari Haywood leaves her nickname to Karin Mueller.

Charlotte Hitchcock bequeaths her book entitled "How to Learn French in Ten Easy Lessons" to Paul Lindquist.

Bruce Hunt leaves to confer his title as a connoisseur of internal combustion vehicles to Tom Ralph.

Peter Ives wills his parking place in the school yard to Phil Rockwell.

Linda Johnson bequeaths her hiking shoes to the business manager of the 1961 Mitobo.

Barbara Kelly leaves the senior parties to Nancy Monroe.

Doug King leaves to erect another Masconomet.

Doug Knapp wills his piano to Cynthia Robertson.

Wendy Lane bequeaths her happy, happy gym periods to Karen Faircloth.

Marie LeRiviere leaves her absent slips to Mrs. Lynch in order that she may paper the office with them.

Connie Lavoie wills bus No. 5 to the baseball team.

Durk Lawson bequeaths his job as class president to Dan Senecal.

Robert Leary leaves his coconut shells to his brother David.

Sandra LeColst wills her shortness to Carol Pearson.

Sidne Lewis leaves to torment Mills College with her giggle.

Bert Lombard bequeaths his writing ability to Mr. Reinhart.

Rusty MacKay wills his job of helping Dr. Howard to Earl Prescott!

Carol MacNulty leaves her size twenty gym suit to Mrs. Senecal.

Leland Mann bequeaths her sports ability to Leslie MacArthur.

Barbara Marciano leaves her weekly showers to Mrs. Couhig.

Toby Martin leaves his 1937 Buick to Charlie Lincoln to take to Adventure.

Anne Marvel wills her book on how to clean teeth to Mrs. Hoogerzeil's new assistant.

Earl McKeen bequeaths his used javelin to Phil Wilichoski.

Donny McLeod wills his gum to the waste basket.

Roxanne McLeod leaves her receptionist cards to Marty Ives.

Martha Meeker bequeaths her dates with the boys from Brooks to anyone who can use them.

Ronny Mierzykowski wills his dancing cheek to cheek ability to Bob Wade.

Corrine Morin leaves her saying, "Did anybody do this homework?", to Barbara Tyler.

Franny Moulton leaves her loquacious ways to the mouse in the corner.

Marianne Moulton leaves her curly hair to Nancy Roberts.

Judy Owen wills her softball glove to Cammy Moore.

Shirley Paul leaves Mr. Vaughn's sessions to Sharon Pollock.

Dorothy Pearson bequeaths her seat in P. O. D. class to some unfortunate junior.

Peter Pratt leaves his orange stockings to his brother Skippy.

Mili Pratt wills a time clock to each study hall.

Barbara Ross bequeaths her seat in math class to someone with a more memorable name.

Gil Ross leaves his humorous remarks to Tubby Carter.

Dick Sibley wills his baseball reporting to Paul Greenler.

Frank Skinner bequeaths his baseball bat to anyone who will have it.

Joan Smith leaves her skis to anyone who can fill her boots.

Judy Smith wills her book entitled "Life on the Farm" to her sister Beth.

Barry Stevens bequeaths his six-cylinder Fordomatic to Charlie Lincoln.

Dick Sterling leaves his ripple tank to anyone of next year's physicists who are hard up for a physics project.

John Swindell wills a slightly messed up shop to Frank Purdy.

Esther Thompson leaves her frolicking zebra to that wicked mortgage collector, Frank Belevere.

Marianne Thompson leaves her curly locks to Martha Gay.

Gene Treanor leaves happily.

Fred Underhill bequeaths his Drama Club shoes to Phil Rockwell in memory of their mutual appreciation of educational theatre.

Herb Vrettos wills his bashful ways to Walter Kimball.

Doug Warren leaves his keys to the car to Judy Clay.

Karen Waters leaves her Hula hoop to Mr. Vaughn because he's always going around in circles.

Charlean Wilkinson leaves her seat on the bus to her sister.

Sandy Wood wills her book on how not to drive to David Lausten.

To the underclassmen, we leave the privilege of becoming seniors.

To the members of the faculty, we leave our thanks, for without them, there wouldn't have been a Class of 1960.

Selectmen and Regional School Committee at Ground-Breaking Exercises

IN APPRECIATION--TO THE CITIZENS OF BOXFORD, MIDDLETON, AND TOPSFIELD

Masconomet Regional High School has been created through the cooperation and hard work of the citizens of Boxford, Middleton, and Topsfield; the District Planning Board; and the Regional School Committee. We, the student body, would like all of those involved to know how grateful we are to them for providing us with the exceptional educational opportunities we find here. We are indeed proud of this handsome building, the excellent faculty, and the modern facilities, equipment, and books that are ours to use. We realize that it is now our responsibility to take advantage of this opportunity to develop intellectually, so that we may fulfill your expectations of us.

Mr. Julius H. Mueller

Our Administration Staff comes to us from four separate locations. Mr. Mueller was former Principal of Weston High School; Mr. Burton was Director of Guidance in Keene, New Hampshire; Dr. Howard, originally from Vermont, was Chairman of the Mathematics Department at Marblehead High School; and Mr. Dresser was formerly Principal of Topsfield High School. Like their student body, these men have pooled their talents in an effort to make Masconomet a leader in the field of secondary school education.

BOXFORD

"Don't close your eyes or you'll miss it!"—Boxford, that is, a quiet, residential town; an old-fashioned country community with a dignified beauty. Where is it? Boxford is in Essex County and is bordered by seven different towns. In land area it is the county's largest town with 23.80 square miles, but it has a population of less than 2,000.

This charming, rustic village was first settled around 1652 and was later established as a town on September 14, 1694. Boxford had then, and still has, the Town Meeting form of government. It has the honor of being the only town to have had one person, Harry Lee Cole, hold the office of town selectman for more than fifty years.

War Memorial—West Boxford

Community Store—East Boxford

The Village Store—West Boxford

Alcott-Cotton House—East Boxford

Like all towns, Boxford has many interesting and prominent people, the most distinguished of whom is The Right Reverend Henry Knox Sherrill, retired Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Churches. He is still a member of the World Council of Churches. We have several retired college professors here who are enriching our town with their integrity and scholarship. Our most endearing citizen is Mr. Harry Moore of Depot Road. Although he is in his nineties, Mr. Moore is seen daily in all kinds of weather on trips between the Post Office and the General Store. He has a cheerful word to say to everyone he meets. In years gone by, at the mill pond, Mr. Moore cut wood which was used in the manufacture of the Wright Brothers' planes.

Town Library—East Boxford

The First Congregational Church

Holyoke—French House—East Boxford

Staff Photographers—West Boxford

We have two Congregational Churches, the first of which was established in East Boxford in 1702. Here, Alice Freeman Palmer, one-time president of Wellesley College, wrote the words of our Communion hymn.

Although Boxford is a small town, it is bustling with activity, both social and civic. To mention a few activities, there are various church groups, the Grange, the American Legion, the Firemen's Association, the P.T.A., and the Scouts.

Nature-lovers find Boxford's woods and many ponds enticing. Many enjoy the rewarding experience of walking through our bird sanctuary, while others prefer to hunt or fish where it is permissible.

This is Boxford. Please keep your eyes open the next time you drive through!

War Memorial — Flint Public Library

Middleton

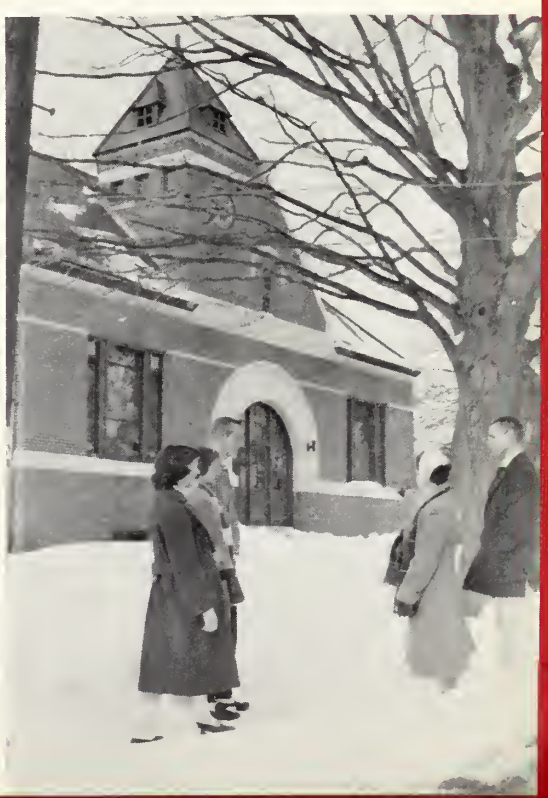
Middleton is small, scenic, and historic New England town, visited by tourists from all parts of the country. Today let's take a short tour of my town. Let's start out from Middleton Square. If you stand here for only a few minutes, you will soon be impressed by the many commercial trucks, as well as the out-of-state cars, passing through town.

Now you may be able to guess how the town got its name. Even in 1836 this was a half-way point in transportation for the tri-weekly stage coaches passing through on the Salem to Lawrence and Lowell route. That large colonial house on the corner over there is the Way Tavern, where the stages stopped to pick up passengers and to change horses.

Our first stop on this guided tour will be the site off Lake Street where the old Indian plantation was once located. One of the Indians there was called "Old William." He owned this hill rising above Middleton Pond, where we now stand. This hill is still known as Will's Hill, and the early white settlers residing hereabouts were known as Will's Hill Men.

As we look from atop this hill, we see one of the most picturesque scenes in Essex County—the mirror waters reflecting the five pine groves surrounding its shores.

Flint Public Library



Let's go on down South Main street now to Memorial Hall. Today this building houses our town offices. Once the building was the Center School, the consolidated school for our town. In 1895, Middleton was a pioneer in the movement to abolish district schools and establish a consolidated school. The motto on our town seal is "Knowledge Is Power." That's why we feel strongly that Masconomet Regional High School represents our continued interest in educational progress.

St. Agnes Church

Continuing along down Old South Main Street, past the Old Parson Smith House, now owned by Mr. Charles Currier, we turn the corner into King Street and Mount Vernon Street, where Thomas Fuller, one of the first settlers had a claim in 1663. Mr. Fuller, a blacksmith was something of a bully, and once the Minister, Rev. Mr. Peters, failing to settle a dispute with him peacefully, took off his coat to give the rascal a sound thrashing.

By turning left now onto Route 62, we come back to the Square. That brick building you see directly ahead of us is the Flint Public Library, the gift of Mr. Charles L. Flint of Boston.

Well, this completes our tour, but it has been such a small one that I hope you'll return again so that my friends and I can better acquaint you with Middleton.

CLUBS AND

This year many student groups have been organized. Clubs in language and science have been formed in which students are given the chance to work and develop in areas they find especially interesting. Student service groups have also been formed which offer valuable aid to the school. Students voluntarily devote study hall and spare time to assist the library, the office, and the various departments; to act as receptionists; to serve on the Art Service Club; to operate audio-visual aids apparatus; and to announce morning and afternoon bulletins.

With the co-operation and assistance of several faculty members, students have organized school publications. They have worked together to produce a school newspaper—The Regional Review, a school annual—MITOBO, and a literary anthology—The Best from Masconomet.

ACTIVITIES

The Music Department, under the expert direction of Mr. Donald Gay and Miss Jean Jarvie, offers a varied program to interested and talented students. The Choralettes, Masconomet Singers, Band, and Orchestra represented us at the Northeast Music Festival in Woburn. Several other musical organizations have been formed—the girls' vocal group, The Teen Tones; a male vocal group; and a dance band.

In these various student organizations, students not only learn cooperation and are given the opportunity for further development in their own particular fields of interest, but also serve to aid, to educate, and to stimulate others at Masconomet.

TOPSFIELD

The earliest history of Topsfield is Indian history. Before the settlers arrived, the town was inhabited by the Agawam Indians, whose chief deeded all the Agawam territory to Governor Winthrop's son for the sum of twenty pounds. Arrowheads are still found in some vicinities around town, but all signs of the two forts erected for the protection of the earliest settlers have disappeared. These forts were located on what are now the Fair Grounds and the Pine Grove Cemetery.

The Indian name for Topsfield was She-ne-we-medy, which is translated as "The pleasant place by the flowing waters." The white men called it New Meadows, but in 1648, it was officially named Topsfield, for Toppesfield, England.

Late in the seventeenth century, a tragedy occurred here that is still recalled. Some time previous to 1690, there had been a great dispute between the Putnams of Putnamville (Danvers) and the Townes of Topsfield over the boundaries of their land. The case went to court and the Towne's won, but the Putnams still persisted in cutting timber from their neighbor's property. The Putnams had a twelve year old relative, and it was she who helped to start the witchcraft delusion of 1692. She accused the three Towne girls and Sarah Wildes of our town. Mary and Rebecca Towne and Sarah Wildes were hanged, but Sarah Towne escaped from jail and was saved. Mary Towne was called the "self-forgetful" because of her pleas to the governor, not for her own life but for the lives of her friends.

Congregational Church

From this town in April of 1775, the Minute Men left their plows to answer their country's call for the fight for freedom. Records show that at least one townsman fought in the Battle of Bunker Hill; still another was at the crossing of the Delaware with Washington.

Topsfield Public Library

In this town the early governors owned land and granted acreage to their families and friends. Here lived a French Acadian family that had been exiled from their beloved homeland. They were cared for by the citizens of Topsfield until they were allowed to return to Acadia. Here were born the father and the grandfather of the Mormon prophet Joseph Smith. Here, once upon a time, was a town with many industries, the main one being shoe manufacturing. Four shoe shops turned out 200,000 pairs of shoes in a single year. Copper mining, leather tanning, hatmaking, cider making, blacksmithing, coffin making, and slaughtering have also been carried on here.

Ipswich River

Today Topsfield is a pleasant, residential town of green lawns, towering trees, and neat houses. Our quiet is broken once each September by the famous Topsfield Fair, which is one of the oldest agricultural fairs in the country.

HAIL, MASCONOMET

SONG OF MASCONOMET

Hail! Masconomet,
Chieftain of old,
Come to watch o'er us;
Your namesake behold.

Your guiding wisdom
We'll keep alive.
Toward this our goal
May we earnestly strive.

Hail! Masconomet,
Alma Mater dear,
Guard you your heritage
Throughout the years.

Witness us now
As our hearts we dedicate
To honor thee,
Our own Masconomet.

(Arranged from Helen Steele's "America, Our Heritage")

DRAMA

DRAMA

Masconomet's Drama Society started its production year with three performances of Cornelia Otis Skinner's Our Hearts Were Young and Gay. The cast and crew, including more than fifty members of the Society were under the direction of Mr. Paul Marcoux, who was aided for this production by Miss Whearty, Mr. Parker, Mr. Barry, Mr. Leach, and Mr. Meinelt.

Since its inception in September, the Drama Society has held many meetings, given a reading of Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit, and technically produced many assemblies and outside shows.

The Drama Society's second dramatic project was an original adaption of a modern version of Sophocles' Antigone, designed for contest competition. After many weeks of rehearsal, Antigone was presented at the school. On March nineteenth, the group traveled to Swampscott High School for the regional competition of the Massachusetts High School Drama Guild. Masconomet was chosen to be one of the two schools to participate in the finals at John Hancock Hall in Boston, the ninth and tenth of April.

This first year has been a rewarding, exciting, and educational one for the Drama Society. From a group of unorganized students, most of whom had never before worked in theater, has grown an experienced club, as evidenced by their willing cooperation in all phases of the group's activities. Masconomet can well be proud of its award-winning Drama Society.

ATHLETICS

Masconomet threw caution to the winds this fall when it decided to have a full program of athletics in its initial year of operation. The athletic department, under the able guidance of Mr. Benson and Mrs. Couhig, combined an excellent and skilled coaching staff with a group of young people with a will to win. The Chieftains and all those who turned out in enthusiastic support of our teams deserve a great deal of credit for a year well spent. The results were truly outstanding.
